

DI Privacy Policy:

(Note - Please note DI is used as an abbreviation of Demand Integrate.)

As of Last modified 16 March 2020.

Welcome to Demand Integrate (DI) privacy policy.

Please review this Privacy Policy notice carefully as it contains important information on who we are, how and why we collect, store, use, and share personal information, and your rights in relation to your personal information, and on how to contact us.

This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, use and disclose the information received from or about you through our websites and the Services. You can access the Services via our website, applications on Devices, APIs and through third parties.

By using our Services, you are consenting to the collection, processing, storage, transfer, disclosure and other uses of your information as described in this Privacy Policy.

What data do we process?

To enable you to enjoy certain features of our product, we collect certain types of information, including personally identifiable information. For example, we collect information when you:

Sign up to receive email newsletters:

When we send newsletters to subscribers we may allow advertisers or partners to include messages in those newsletters, or we may send dedicated newsletters on behalf of those advertisers or partners. To unsubscribe from a particular newsletter, click the "unsubscribe" link at the bottom of that email newsletter.

Register:

When you register to use forums or other Services, we ask you to provide certain information, which may include your email address, office address, designation, state, zip code, phone, country.

Member Information:

DI's goal in collecting Member Information is to provide you with the best and most useful content and services and to offer you opportunities to obtain other products and services from us and our partners. Because we derive revenue from advertising, collecting information is essential to keeping our services available to users.

We collect Member Information when you provide it to us through the following:

- When you register on one of our sites.
- Subscribe to an e-mail newsletter.
- Register for one of our events or access certain Content or through surveys, as well as when you register to receive a demonstration or “test-drive” software products.
- Several of the services that we offer on our Sites may require registration as a condition of use. Once you register with one of the DI Sites, you are no longer anonymous to us. To the extent that we combine any Clickstream Data or Supplementary Information with the information provided by you, it will be considered to be part of your Member Information.

Clickstream Data:

When you access a site, a small file called a “cookie” is placed on your hard drive. If you register as a Member, DI will use cookies to authenticate your identity when you visit the Sites, collect the data generated in connection with your clickstream activity on the Sites and to personalize your user experience on the Sites, including by serving and managing ads based on your activity on the Sites.

In all cases, DI uses cookies to track the Clickstream Data of Members on the Sites and to obtain non-personally identifiable information from Users, such as the number of visits to the Sites that a certain User has made, the movement of the User through the Sites, and the searches that the User conducts on the Sites.

Please note that DI does not collect Clickstream Data on any websites other than the Sites. Most browsers are initially set up to accept cookies, but you can reset your browser to refuse all cookies or to indicate when a cookie is being sent. However, some DI features and services may not be available to you if your cookies are disabled. We use electronic images known as “clear GIFs”

(sometimes called “transparent GIFs”, “Web bugs”, “pixel tags” or “beacons”) that allow us to track general user traffic patterns. DI also automatically receives and records information from our servers and from your browser, including your IP address, the time, and information about the page you accessed.

data provided by our partners: Our partner provides us data that are processed for their business purpose. We do it with their consent.

How does DI collect and process personal information?

DI collects Personal Information online through websites and other online resources.

DI also offers online resources in collaboration with other online service providers, from it may receive personal information about Users of such resources. These online collaborations are governed by agreements that require Personal Information to be protected appropriately.

DI also processes personal information from its partnership with their prior consent to give the desired service.

Why does DI collect, use, and share Personal Information?

DI collects Personal Information so that it can provide its users with valuable and useful content and services, and offer you opportunities to obtain other high-quality products and services our partners. DI analyses Personal Information collected online to identify and offer additional services and promotions that we believe you might find interesting. We might share the data provided by users to our partners who operate outside the country or region the users belong, ensuring the required compliance guidelines.

DI can use the data collected for our in-house data analytics platform – to give users a greater service experience and value.

Use and Disclosure of Information We Collect:

Member Information:

Certain DI Sponsors receive or are granted access to reports that may include your Member Information and, in some instances, information about your areas of interest derived from your Clickstream Data.

Except as set forth in this Privacy Policy, DI will not disclose any personally identifiable Member Information to any third parties, unless we are required to do so by law, regulation or court order.

Clickstream Data:

DI uses Cookies to collect Clickstream Data on the Sites. DI uses Cookies to link User activity to their Member Information. Linking User activity to Member Information allows our system to confirm a user's identity on the Sites and to save and recognize Member log-in information so that Members do not have to log in each time they visit the Sites or access content.

We use Clickstream data for a variety of purposes, including, but not limited to: Help us recognize your computer as a previous visitor, and save and remember any preference that may have been set while you were visiting one of our Websites or a Co-Branded Site.

Track, accumulate and report information on our sites and content usage to our partners and customers so that they can measure the effectiveness of advertisements and content viewed on the Websites; Help us customize the content and advertisements you are shown while visiting our Websites and potentially other websites online; Determine which features Users like best to help us improve our Content and Sites, personalize your user experience, and measure overall Site effectiveness; Share non-personally identifying information about your areas of interest to third parties to allow targeted advertising elsewhere on the internet using Tracking Technologies, and Disclose aggregated information as detailed below.

Co-Branded Websites:

Member Information collected when you register or log in on a Co-Branded Site, and Clickstream Data collected when on the Co-Branded Site, are generally available both to DI and that partner. However, each partner's use of that Member Information is governed by that partner's privacy policy and may be used for follow up by telephone, email or other common methods. You should contact these partners directly if you have any questions about their use of this information. DI Event Registration Information: When you register to attend a vendor-sponsored DI in-person event (including Conferences, Custom Media events and Editorial events), your contact information is used to confirm registrations and send product information and promotional material from DI and the event sponsors. This information may also be used to compile broad demographic information.

DI may disclose Member Information provided during the event registration process vendors sponsoring the event. The sponsoring vendor's use of your Event Registration Information is governed by the vendor's privacy policy.

Your privacy control:

You can also control, ask and delete your data by contacting us.

Data storage:

We store the data for only three years unless any other specified period as required by our client partners or as per the compliances guidelines requirements. After the specific data retention period is over we delete the data from all the storage locations including the back-ups taken.

Data Storage and backup:

Please note that the Frequency of data deletion from backup is as per country's regulation.

The locations of data storage are as below:

- The data is stored at USA data center on the cloud server.

Keeping your information secure is our utmost priority:

DI has implemented reasonable security measures to protect information from loss, misuse, and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration or destruction. Our security systems include authenticated access to internal databases, audits of procedures, and regular reviews of overall Web security.

Information we collect using technology:

Device Information:

We may collect information about the browser, computer, mobile phone, smartphone or another device you use to access the Services to measure the effectiveness of those Services.

Cookies and Similar Technology. As further explained below, we may use cookies, pixel trackers, server logs, and other Internet technology for purposes such as measuring the effectiveness of the Services, emails we send you, and any advertising campaigns, as well as to target meaningful content and ads (including through emails).

Sometimes, we may facilitate the use by third-party platforms of these anonymous cookies, or similar technology, to help those third parties better target ads to you based on other websites you may have visited. To learn more about how third parties may collect and use information online, and how you can exercise opt-out choices regarding that information, see the below Section titled "Information Collected by Third-Parties and Your Ad & Cookie Choices."

IP Addresses:

We log Internet Protocol (IP) addresses or the location of your computer on the Internet. We use this information in an aggregate fashion to track access to our Services (websites and mobile applications), and may also use it to infer your location, as also discussed in the below section titled "Geolocation Data."

Geo-location Data:

For certain mobile applications, we offer, we may (or may enable a third party, including an advertiser to) request your geolocation information in order to provide you with ads, offers, search or other functionality. If you agree to such collection, we (or the third party) may maintain information regarding your precise geo-location including overtime and may use it to help enable that functionality in addition, we may (or may enable a third party, such as an advertiser to) capture geolocation information (such as based on IP address data) when you access our services and may use that geo-location information to targets ads or offers to you.

Analytics:

We may use third parties to provide us information, reports, and analysis about the usage and browsing patterns of users of the Services. These reports contain aggregated or anonymous data only and do not identify individual users apssmedia.com

Log Files:

We may also automatically log certain information about your use of the Services. This information includes a reading history of the pages you view and a record of the sites from which you clicked on a link to visit ours.

Cookies, Web Beacons, and Similar Technologies Like many websites, and web and mobile services, we may use (or work with third-party partners who use) a variety of technologies to learn more about how people interact with our Services. This section provides more information about some of those technologies and how they work.

Cookies:

Cookies are small files that websites and other online services use to store information about users on the users' own computers. Cookies can be used to store sign-in credentials so that you don't have to enter them each time you return to a website, or to store other information to make web viewing more customized or efficient upon future visits. Cookies also may store a unique identifier tied to your computer so that web services and advertising networks can recognize you across visits to different websites. You can configure your Internet browser to warn you each time a cookie is being sent or to refuse all or certain cookies completely.

We (or our partners) may use or support cookies for purposes including the following:

To collect information about your browsing activities in order to deliver customized or relevant services, advertising or content to you (including regarding our own products and content), when you browse our Website or other websites or open the emails we send you; To relate the information collected by cookies to information we obtain from you directly or from commercially available sources; to work with third parties that serve advertisements (through our Services or across the Internet) or provide other services to us, such as providing users the ability to comment on content, allowing users to share content, or tracking website usage statistics. We do not control these third-party technologies and their use is governed by the privacy policies of the third parties using such technologies.

Other Local Storage:

We (or our partners) may use other kinds of local storage, such as Local Shared Objects (also referred to as "Flash cookies") and HTML5 local storage, in connection with the Services. These technologies are similar to the cookies discussed above in that they are stored on your computer and can be used to store certain information about your activities and preferences. However, these objects are stored in different parts of your computer from ordinary browser cookies. Your browser may allow you to disable its HTML5 local storage or delete information contained in its HTML5 local storage.

Web Beacons:

We (or our partners) may use technologies called web beacons that communicate information from your Internet browser to a web server. Web beacons can be embedded in web pages, videos, or emails, and can allow a web server to read certain types of information from your browser, check whether you have viewed a particular web page or email message, and determine, among other things, the time and date on which you viewed the web beacon, the IP address of your computer, and the URL of the web page from which the web beacon was viewed. These web beacons may be used for a variety of purposes, including to analyze the use of the services and in conjunction with cookies to provide content and ads that are more relevant to you.

How We May Use and Share the Information We Collect?

Providing the Services, You Request:

We use the information we gather about you to enable your use of the Services, fulfill your requests for certain products and services, such as sending out electronic newsletters and enabling you to participate in and renew paid services, polls, contests, and message boards.

We reserve the right to disclose your opt-out information to third parties so they can suppress your name from future solicitations, in accordance with applicable laws. In addition, if you request that we send your information to a third-party service, such as for earning rewards points or other benefits, we may do so and the use of that information by the third party is subject to their privacy policy.

Statistical Analysis:

We use the information, including analytics and statistical information, to analyze the use of the services so that we may improve them. We also use this information to generally inform advertisers about the nature of our user base.

Customizing Your Experience:

We use the information that we collect to allow advertising to be targeted to the users for whom such advertising is most pertinent. We may also use this information to customize certain features of the Services to provide you with an enhanced experienced based on information such as the type of device you are using to access the Services, your activities on the services, or your location or geo-location. We may also use this information to provide you with the services you have requested.

Our Parent Company:

APSS Media is Limited Liability Company (LLC) registered in The US.

We share information we collect with our affiliates (entities that are under common ownership or control) to better understand our users (their demographics, what they do on our Websites, what Website features they like, how they use them, etc.), to serve ads on other IAC websites, and to improve the content and answers delivered on the services and on affiliate services.

Communication with Guides, Experts and other Contributors to the Services:

The Services feature content provided by people who are independent contractors and not employees of about, including content provided by contributors including those we call "Experts" or "Guides." If you contact an Expert or Guide (or another contributor) directly by email through the Services (including via a DI .com) or otherwise then that communication is independent of the Services, and thus not subject to this Privacy Policy. Although DI contractually requires its Expert and Guide contributors to maintain information from DI users in confidence, DI cannot and does not guarantee that they will do so, and is not responsible for what our contributors may say, or how they may use the information you have freely provided to them. Likewise, your communications with a contributor are not private or confidential, nor are such communications protected by attorney-client, doctor-patient, or any other privilege.

Other Privacy Considerations:

We may transfer your information to a third party if we or any of our affiliates are involved in a transfer or all or part of our business or assets (e.g., a sale, merger, dissolution, liquidation or reorganization) or are taking steps in anticipation of such a transaction (e.g., participating in due diligence).

Do Not Track Browser Disclosure:

Do Not Track ("DNT") is a privacy preference that users can set in certain web browsers. DNT is a way for users to inform websites and services that they do not want certain information about their webpage visits collected over time and across websites or online services.

We are committed to providing you with meaningful choices about the information collected on our websites for third-party purposes, and that is why we provide the NAI "Consumer Opt-out" link and the DAA opt-out link above. However, we do not recognize or respond to browser-initiated DNT signals, as the internet industry is currently still working toward defining exactly what DNT means, what it means to comply with DNT and a common approach to responding to DNT.

Information from Children Under 18:

We do not knowingly collect any personally identifiable information from children under 18. If we determine that a user is under 18, we will delete all personally identifiable information collected from that user.

Compliances and Regulation - We respect the boundaries of countries, continents, and unions.

Regardless of where we are operating from we always follow privacy regulations of laws of your country.

For EU Individuals: Your Rights under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR):

General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR):

If you are based in the EU, under the GDPR you have important rights that which you can exercise free of charge. In summary, those include the right to:

- Access your personal information and certain other supplementary information (which this Privacy Policy is already designed to address).
- Require us to correct any mistakes in your information which we hold.

Require the erasure of personal information concerning you in certain situations.

Receive the personal information concerning you which you have provided to us, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit those data to a third party in certain situations.
